Conference registration

It is expressly agreed that the ASF and the event organiser, their legal representatives, directors and employees, and their agents, officers and services, shall not be liable for any loss, injury or damage of any kind whatsoever suffered directly or indirectly by the person, possession or property of any conference participant or other person during or in connection with the events on the programme or any other activities of the Australian Securitisation Forum Conference 2023, for any reason whatsoever no matter howsoever caused.

It is agreed that the ASF and the event organiser, and their agents and officers, reserve the right to cancel at any time any or all of the programmed or other activities if this should appear necessary as a result of events which are beyond their control or which they cannot reasonably be expected to influence or for which they are not responsible.

Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, such events shall include but not limited to an act of God, war, revolution or any other unlawful act against public order or authority, an industrial dispute including strike or other labour disturbances, a governmental restraint, or where a state of emergency has been declared (event of Force Majeure).

Decisions regarding the necessity for such cancellation shall be taken by the ASF, or their agents, at their sole discretion and shall be final.

Code of conduct

The Australian Securitisation Forum and event organiser invite you to make ASF Conference 2023 a place that is welcoming and respectful for all participants. We expect all participants – delegates, speakers, sponsors, exhibitors and organisers – to treat others with respect at all times. This includes at social events and on social media before, during and after the event.

Unacceptable behaviour in any form will not be tolerated and those who do not behave appropriately may be asked to leave without a refund and banned from future events, at the discretion of the hosts and organisers.
